The House Ways and Means Committee has released their updated tax reform proposal that includes a three-year hold period for carried interest capital gains. The committee is trying to pass the bill by Friday, and we are working hard on our core tax reform priorities. On the other side of the Capitol, the Senate could release their tax reform proposal as early as today.

To keep you up to speed with the latest movements as well as provide you with exclusive analysis of the legislation and what it means for your firms and your portfolio companies, we invite you to participate in a members-only conference call with the NVCA Policy team. During the call we will review the legislation in its current form and provide a roadmap of where we expect things to go from here.
