

PitchBook-NVCA Partnership FAQ

How does NVCA report on venture capital activity?

NVCA reports on venture capital activity with PitchBook, the official data provider of NVCA. PitchBook and NVCA jointly produce the quarterly PitchBook-NVCA Venture Monitor, detailing all venture capital activity (fundraising, investments, exits and other relevant industry analysis) in one comprehensive report each quarter. Between quarters, NVCA produces individual data reports based on data provided by PitchBook.

To whom does my firm send its quarterly activity report to now?

It is the discretion of individual firms to determine to whom they provide data. However, NVCA encourages all our member firms to provide data to PitchBook on an ongoing basis to better support their data collection efforts in support of our joint production of the PitchBook-NVCA Venture Monitor. In order to more accurately communicate venture capital activity to policymakers and regulators, it is imperative to have access to firm-level and portfolio-level data, and the best way to access that data is for the firms to provide it on their own.

If my firm wants to submit a quarterly activity report to PitchBook, who do I contact?
